News Letter #4

January 2009

The holidays are now officially over, and it's back to work! First order of business is a knife show in Vegas. The Invitational Knifemakers Show™ will be Friday, January 16 - Sunday, January 18, 2009 at the Riviera Hotel & Casino. I hope if you get a chance to stop by that you will! I have a lot of knives ready for the show and I am looking forward to hanging out with knife people for a long weekend!

New around here are the T Shirts that we just had printed up. Fruit of the Loom, Black 100% Cotton T shirts, Logo front and back the only difference is size. Left sleeve sports a USMC Senior Explosive Ordnance Disposal Badge, for my own personal nostalgia.

I have L, XL and XXL on hand with this first run. I have go some more cool SAWG ideas coming up later as well. You can check out the t shirts on the web site at www.georgeknives.com/Shirts.html

I am planning on experimenting with some "hamon" lines on some folders after Vegas. I really am looking forward to getting that going!

I have some other new folders in the works as well on both ends of the size spectrum. One will be about 11 inches over all and another about 4-5 inches over all.

I am sad to have to say that the Hawaii Knife Show has been put off for at least a year, so no Hawaii trip for me until next year. So with one less show to do I am probably going to spend that time working on orders. There is a small show just north of Austin, in Round Rock, TX in March that I may or may not go to, I can't make my mind up....

I am going to be a lot better with these this year. I thank you for reading this far and look forward to the New Year! Respectfully Submitted,
Les George
